Conclusion: We believe that regardless that the gold standard is “gone” (the backup reserve for printing paper money), the world’s governments and wealthy individuals and corporations do buy and store gold bullion for a wide range of reasons and for future unforeseen events which include inflation, wars, stock market crashes etc.

Thus, the average citizen is left out of the loop and drowns in more debt over time while the “selected” few and governments have a backup plan in place and it is gold which has and being manipulated at all levels and proof is all around us.
